In court: Mallett has hearing; Blakely pled guilty

By Larry Vincent

On Tuesday, January 7, there was a hearing in the 11th Circuit Court to determine if a search warrant executed on the cell phone of defendant Charles Mallett should be allowed in court.

Mallett's attorney argued that how the search warrant was written and how the search actually happened were not compatible. The specific wording of the warrant, according to Mallett's attorney, only included Mallett's "person, place or things" at Mallett's home address. His phone was searched after being found in his car while it was parked at Wal-Mart in Sault Ste. Marie.

Prosecutor Josh Freed argued that the law held an exception for searching an alleged defendant's car, even if it is away from the defendant's place of residence. Judge William Carmody sided with the prosecution, and the search warrant was deemed valid. Mallett will appear in court again soon.

On Thursday, January 9, jurors were summoned to the 92nd District Court for a trial in a domestic violence case against Cody Blakely. The courthouse was full of potential jurors who had been signed in and were waiting patiently. Thirty minutes before the procedure was due to begin, Judge Beth Gibson informed them their services were no longer needed.

Just minutes before his trial, Blakely was arrested on a bond violation relating to the domestic violence case. He appeared, pled guilty, and was sentenced to 93 days jail suspended, a $350 fine, and two years of probation with a GPS tether.

More than a thousand books are sorted by reading level in Ann McFadden's third grade classroom at the Newberry Elementary School.

Read by Grade 3 hits now

Some third graders may repeat the year

By Carol Stiffler

Between now and May, third graders have a huge task ahead of them: Learn to read proficiently in time to pass the M-STEP assessment test at the end of the school year. There's no real reward, but the penalty is huge - third graders who cannot read proficiently will be flagged by the state and told to repeat third grade.

This new educational hurdle is the result of Michigan's Read by Grade 3 law. The law was passed in 2016 and this year's third graders are the first to fully experience it.

School districts knew this was coming. In preparation, they've assessed the reading level of students, have placed many on Individualized Reading Intervention Plans, utilized a Literacy Coach from the Intermediate School District, and built a team for each student that includes his or her parents.

"The Read by Grade 3 law is the responsibility of our elementary teaching team from preschool through third grade, not just when the students get to third grade," said Ann McFadden, who teaches third grade reading and science at Tahquamenon Area Schools. "Reading instruction begins and is carried through these grade levels."

McFadden has always had a love for literacy and keeps an intense focus on reading in her classroom. She has a library with more than 1,000 books in her classroom and regularly takes her students to the school library for more books. She also assigns them at-home reading, which is a key piece of the puzzle.

Students who are not proficient in reading by the end of third grade are four times more likely to drop out of high school.

"All third graders are given a weekly reading log," McFadden said. "It is part of their weekly homework to read at least 30 minutes a night, five nights a week. Research shows us that reading at this frequency determines success as a reader."

According to a study by the Annie E. Casey Foundation, students who are not proficient in reading by the end of third grade are four times more likely to drop out before graduating high school. The study found that 88 percent of high school dropouts were struggling to read in third grade.

Retaining a student, or holding them back, has its own pitfalls. Another study, this one done by Texas A&M, found that students who are held back in elementary school are nearly three times less likely to graduate high school.

A key flaw in the new requirement is that it fails to look at the whole student, said Tahquamenon Superintendent Stacy Price. Analyzing a student solely on reading gives an incomplete assessment of their skills.

Third graders who have a reading score on the M-STEP that is more than one year below grade level will be flagged for retention. The state will send a letter to the home of the student by June 1.

Gearing up for Census 2020

By Larry Vincent

Every ten years, the Constitution of the United States says that there has to be an enumeration of all the persons living in the United States: a census. The census is in the Constitution because in order to allocate Representatives to the U.S. House of Representatives, the number of persons living within the United States needs to be known.

Representatives to Congress are allocated by how many people live within a district. Current law sets the amount of representatives to Congress as 435. So, every ten years, districts need to be redrawn in order to accommodate the changes in population. According to Title 13 of U.S. Code, the official count date for the 2020 census is April 1, 2020.

Obtaining the most accurate count of people is important not only for your representative in congress. It also affects federal and Michigan programs that rely on accurate census data. Medicaid, welfare, highways, FHA loans for homes, and Medicare Part B insurance are a partial list of programs affected by the census.

These programs use complicated formulas for providing funding, but the formulas all have one fundamental aspect to them: if the total amount of people that qualify for programs are undercounted, it means that those people will be the most adversely affected by that undercounting.

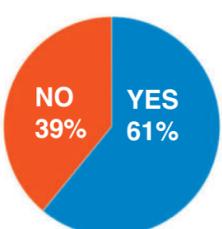

For example, SNAP (formerly Food Stamps) relies on an accurate count of people that make less than 133% of poverty ($34,248 See CENSUS, page 2

Having words with Governor Whitmer

By Carol Stiffler

Five Upper Peninsula superintendents traveled to Lansing last week to meet with legislators and Governor Gretchen Whitmer.

The superintendents were invited to a ceremonial bill signing to commemorate the return of the 22d funding these schools rely on. Superintendents from Whitefish Township Schools, Burt Township Schools, Beaver Island, Mackinac Island, and DeTour were present. Combined, these superintendents serve 319 students.

Tom McKee, center, presented Governor Gretchen Whitmer with a thank-you card signed by all Whitefish Township Schools students, and two tickets to Paradise.

Whitefish Township Schools, spoke clearly with legislators about the reality of school in an isolated, rural district. "It was a great opportunity to go down and talk about our students, our schools, our challenges, and also our successes," McKee said.

No apologies were offerred to the superintendents, whose districts receive most of their state aid from the 22d fund.

"Nothing they did was directed at our school," McKee said. "But they understand now what the importance of this funding is, and who this funding goes to."

McKee brought Whitmer a card signed by each student in the Whitefish Township district, and two tickets to Paradise. Whitmer said she will try to visit in the spring. Other legislators are also planning to visit the district in the spring.

ruling can request a good clause exemption. State guidelines indicate a good clause exemption could apply if the student has:

- An Individualized Education Program (IEP)
- A Section 504 Plan
- Limited English with less than three years of instruction in an English Language Learner program
- Received intensive reading intervention for 2 or more years, and was retained in kindergarten, 1st or 2nd grade
- Been enrolled in their current school for less than two years and there is evidence the child was not given an appropriate Individual Reading Improvement Plan.

The state will also consider a good clause exemption from parents who request their child not be held back.

Good clause exemptions can be filed by contacting the school their child attends. Exemptions must be filed within 30 days of receiving notification that the student may be retained. It will be up to the superintendent to review the request and make the final decision.

Popular children's books in the Tahquamenon Area Library are labeled for easy finding. Librarian Dion Mindykowski said book checkouts have gone up since the Read by Grade 3 law went into effect.

tendent and Principal Rachel Bommarito said third grade is when students make the leap from "learning to read" to "reading to learn". She has concerns about the strict law.

"The M-STEP is an incredibly difficult assessment for our students to navigate, and there are other assessments that give far more information to assist with their learning," Bommarito said. "While I would love for every student to read by third grade, I do not believe that retaining students based on test scores and without parent and school input is the best solution."

In preparation for this crucial M-STEP, more teachers have been bringing classes into the library, according to Tahquamenon Area Librarian Dion Mindykowski. He's seen some books go "viral" in classrooms, with young readers eying each other and racing to be the next to check it out. He listens to their requests, and if they ask to read something his library doesn't have, he gets it for them - anything to keep them reading.

for a family of 4). If a state like Michigan undercounts that population, the amount Michigan receives in SNAP benefits for distribution to eligible people will be cut by Washington, D.C. because those people were not counted.

Medicaid may be the most affected by an undercounting of people in a state. Reimbursement rates are calculated by per capita income. If a state's poor population is undercounted, the rate of reimbursement is reduced. This means less money available for Medicaid in Michigan.

The census is important not only for an accurate count of people that live in the United States, but proper representation in Congress and programs that rely on an accurate count.

Reporting in from the Luce Amateur Radio Society

The Luce Amateur Radio Society (LARS) is a group of ham radio operators from all over Luce County, as well as from other areas, that come together to promote interest in ham radio. They also train, support and encourage ham radio operators in their participation in this vital hobby. The members that make up this group come from all walks of life, are of all ages, include both women and men, and are well respected for their support of the county's emergency managers.

Members of this group participate in many nets across Michigan, the United States, and surrounding countries, and develop strong relationships with other ham radio operators.

LARS members also provide support to community events by providing communications for several events that occur throughout Luce County and surrounding counties, such as the Tahquamenon Country Sled Dog Race in January, the UP200 in February, several of the Great Lakes Endurance Race events throughout the year, such as on Grand Island in July 2020, the Mackinac Bridge Walk in September, as well as other events.

LARS members meet monthly on the first Tuesday evening of each month at 7 pm at Renze Ford in downtown Newberry.

The group also hosts an annual swap meet. This year the meet will be held on the morning of Saturday, June 6 at the Pentland Township Hall on M-28. It is open to the public and you do not have to be a ham operator to attend. It's a big deal - the swap meet is well attended by ham operators from many areas, both from the U.P., lower Michigan, and other states. There will be vendors on-site, as well as individuals who rent tables and have items to sell.

If there is enough interest, Dave Dake, club president, will hold a licensing class beginning April 20, 2020, with the testing held on June 6, 2020, after the swap meet. If you are interested or would like to sign up, contact Dave at 906-291-1583, or via e-mail at daviddake@sbc-global.net.

We look forward to meeting you!

Registration officially opened January 1 and is limited to 25,000 participants. Registered participants will receive a t-shirt, medal and commemorative bib. There is an entry fee to participate. A portion of the entry fee will go toward planting "Happy Little Trees" in Michigan state parks.

Bob Ross is a well-known painter from the PBS show The Joy of Painting, which aired from 1981 through 1994. He is most often remembered for his landscape paintings, kindness, patience and catchphrase, "Happy little trees."

While participants may complete the race in their own time and at their own locations, some meet-ups will take place in state parks for those who would prefer to complete the 5K alongside other participants. A recreation passport will be required to enter any state parks.

SEMCO ENERGY ASKS CUSTOMERS TO KEEP METERS CLEAR OF SNOW AND ICE

During the winter, here are a few ways to help protect gas meter equipment and gas appliances to avoid a potentially hazardous situation or service disruption:

- Clean and repair leaky seams in your gutters and downspouts to prevent melting snow and ice from building up on the gas meter or pressure regulator.
- Never allow snow to cover your natural gas meter or its pressure regulator or block your appliance exhaust vents.
- Please use caution when shoveling snow, plowing or snow blowing to avoid piling snow against the natural gas meter, regulator or appliance vents.
- Clear a path to the meter free from snow and ice for easy access.
- Remove soft snow build-up gently, using only a broom or your hand rather than a shovel that could damage the meter.
- Do not try to remove ice or frozen snow from the natural gas meter pressure regulator or piping. If you find your meter or pressure regulator covered in ice or frozen snow, do not attempt to remove the ice or use de-icer. Contact SEMCO ENERGY Gas Company, toll free, at 1 800 624 2019.

Getting to know Rachel Bommarito

By Kayleigh Petrie

Three Lakes Academy students have a new superintendent and principal this year. After teaching for 26 years, Sue Pann retired from TLA at the end of the 2018-2019 school year. Filling her shoes is former teacher Rachel Bommarito, who also shared leadership duties with Pann for years. Bommarito is now wearing many hats including Superintendent, administrator, and principal.

While she is no longer teaching, Bommarito does continue to spend a lot of time in the classrooms.

"I've been with Three Lakes since I got my first teaching job in 2010," Bommarito said. "I taught from then until 2018. When Mrs. Pann first approached me about taking over for her, I laughed, but I started helping her out in various leadership positions and I really liked it. Eventually we both agreed that me taking over would make for the smoothest transition for everyone."

Currently, grades go from Pre-K to 7th with a total of 118 students. "The first half of the school year has been excellent," Bommarito said. "Our co-ed basketball season started this week, and every year it gets a little better than the last." She went on to say, "We offer a variety of after school clubs, from American Sign Language to Mushing Club, and we try to vary our offerings based on student interest."

Three Lakes Academy, which is a charter school, focuses on learning outdoor activities and learning in ways that may seem untraditional. The academy's goal is to show children how to enjoy learning. And the community seems to treasure it.

"I've never seen a community like the one that surrounds Three Lakes," Bommarito said. "The outpouring of support for the students, staff, and this school is truly incredible."

Read all about it: Library resolutions

By Dion Mindykowski,

About this time of year, I tend to focus this column on the books the Tahquamenon Area Library has that can help you accomplish your New Year's Resolutions. I'd like to do something different this year. Instead, I'd like to talk about a New Year's Resolution for the library. In 2020, we would like to have as many members of our community as possible visit the library.

If you haven't been here in a while, things have changed a lot. Especially if you haven't been to the library since you graduated. We've drastically increased our collection size. In 2019 alone, we added 2,120 new items. As a result of our growing collection, we've even added more shelving over the last eight years to accommodate our increased offerings. Along with books, we offer DVDs and Blu-ray, including just-released movies and television shows, music CDs, puppet kits, magazines, even a couple of disc golf sets so that you can try out the challenging course at Zell Meadows Trail. In the past year our total available downloadable eBook and audiobook content went from 10,000 items to over 25,000.

Even with so many options, you might be looking for an item that we don't own. That is why we extended inter-library loan delivery to five days a week. Every Monday through Friday, we receive deliveries from libraries across the state. We can request items from other libraries and have it ready for pickup in 1 to 2 weeks. If you are reading this column and haven't been here, please help us complete our 2020 goal and stop in, even if it is just for a quick visit. The public is welcome during all open hours. Though we are housed in the school, it is your library, too. Our hours are:

Mondays, Wednesdays, and Fridays
8:30 a.m. to 5:00 p.m.
Tuesdays and Thursdays
8:30 a.m. to 9:00 p.m.
Saturdays
10:00 a.m. to 3:00 p.m.

To reach us by phone, please call 906-293-5214 and to check out our online catalog please visit www.tahquamlibrary.org.

Each person who attends will play as an individual, with partners assigned at random before each 20-minute game. The number of games played for the night will depend on the number of players.

Two pediatric flu deaths confirmed in Michigan

First two of the 2019-2020 season

The Michigan Department of Health and Human Services (MDHHS) has confirmed the first influenza-associated pediatric deaths of the 2019-2020 flu season in Michigan. Influenza claims the lives of children every year across the United States. MDHHS is urging residents to get vaccinated for protection this season.

The reported deaths involve children from Shiawassee and Wayne counties who were infected with Influenza B. Nationally, there have been 32 influenza-associated pediatric deaths reported during the 2019-2020 flu season. Additional possible cases will continue to be investigated by state and local public health agencies.

"These tragic deaths are a reminder of how serious influenza can be," said Dr. Joneigh Khaldun, chief medical executive and chief deputy for health for MDHHS. "I urge all Michiganders ages 6 months and older to get their flu shots if they have not already done so this season. It is not too late."

Flu is a contagious respiratory disease caused by different strains of the influenza virus and can result in mild to severe illness. Michigan has experienced widespread flu activity over the past few weeks. A majority of the positive influenza specimens confirmed by MDHHS Bureau of Laboratories this flu season have been Influenza B virus.

According to the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC), during last year's flu season there were an estimated 34,200 deaths from influenza. In Michigan, four children died last year due to flu-related complications, while nationally there were 136 flu-related deaths among children.

MDHHS strongly recommends that everyone 6 months of age and older get a seasonal flu vaccine. Flu vaccine is the best way to prevent against getting the flu and can also reduce the severity of flu illness. During the 2018-2019 flu season, only 46.1 percent of Michigan residents were vaccinated against flu, below the national rate of 49.2 percent.

Vaccines are especially important for people at increased risk for complications from flu, including children, adults aged 65 years and older, persons of any age with underlying medical conditions and pregnant women. Children less than 6 months of age are too young to be vaccinated and need to be protected by vaccination of their close contacts, including parents, siblings, grandparents, childcare workers and healthcare personnel.

It takes up to two weeks after the vaccine is administered before the body builds up enough immunity to prevent the flu, so Michigan residents should get vaccinated now to protect themselves before flu activity increases in Michigan. The flu shot is made with inactivated or killed viruses and cannot give you influenza.

There is still plenty of flu vaccine available. To find flu vaccine near you, call your healthcare provider, local health department or check the Health Map Vaccine Finder at Flushot.healthmap.org.

MDHHS reports state's third vaping-related lung injury death

The Michigan Department of Health and Human Services (MDHHS) is announcing the third death associated with the outbreak of vaping-related lung injuries in the state.

MDHHS was notified about the death of an adult male on Dec. 19. No other information about the individual will be released due to confidentiality reasons.

"The tragic death of yet another Michigan resident is a reminder that this outbreak continues," said Dr. Joneigh Khaldun, chief medical executive and chief deputy for health for MDHHS. "We extend our deepest condolences to the family. I urge people not to use THC-containing e-cigarettes or vaping products until the specific cause of these vaping-related severe lung injuries being reported nationwide has been identified. To help with this investigation, we remind health care providers to report patients who may have this condition to their local health department."

Since August 2019, 65 confirmed and probable vaping-related lung injury cases have been reported in Michigan, including this death. All cases have been reported in Michigan's Lower Peninsula and most of the individuals have been hospitalized for severe respiratory illness. The age range is 15-67.

The Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) reported that as of Jan. 7, 2,602 cases have been identified in 50 states, the District of Columbia and two territories. This includes 57 deaths in 27 states; this count does not include this third Michigan death.

MDHHS is working closely with the CDC and the federal Food and Drug Administration to get additional information that can help identify the ingredients in the vape materials that are making people sick.

So far, no specific brand of device or e-liquid has been identified. The CDC identified vitamin E acetate as closely associated with vaping-related lung injuries. Vitamin E acetate is used as an additive in THC-containing vaping products.

E-cigarette and/or vaping users should immediately seek medical attention if they develop symptoms such as shortness of breath, chest pain, cough, fever and/or nausea and vomiting.

MDHHS recommends the following:

—People should not use THC-containing e-cigarette or vaping products, particularly from informal sources such as friends, family or in-person or online sellers.

—E-cigarette and/or vaping products should never be used by youth, young adults or women who are pregnant.

—Individuals who do not currently use tobacco products should not start using e-cigarette or vaping products.

—Vitamin E acetate should not be added to e-cigarette or vaping products. Additionally, people should not add any other substances not intended by the manufacturer to products, including products purchased through retail establishments.

—While it appears that vitamin E acetate is associated with these lung injury cases, there are many different substances and product sources that are being investigated, and there may be more than one cause. Therefore, the best way for people to ensure that they are not at risk while the investigation continues is to consider refraining from the use of all e-cigarette and vaping products.

—Adults who continue to use e-cigarette or vaping products should carefully monitor themselves for symptoms, such as shortness of breath, chest pain, cough, fever and/or nausea and vomiting, and see a healthcare provider immediately if they develop symptoms like those reported in this outbreak.

—Adults using e-cigarettes or vaping products as an alternative to cigarettes should not go back to smoking; they should weigh all available information and consider using FDA-approved cessation medications. They should contact their healthcare provider if they need help quitting tobacco products, including e-cigarettes. E-cigarettes are not FDA approved as a smoking cessation device.

The following free help is available for individuals who are interested in quitting tobacco:

—Call 800-QUIT-NOW (800-784-8669) for adults.

—MyLifeMyQuit.com for youth 18 and under.

A message to the youth

You can be a rock star here

By Carol Stiffler

This is a message to the youth. Not that they want to be called youth. Hip readers? Budding adults? Are you listening?

You are from here. Whether or not you realize it, you are so lucky. I know it's cold and the cold can be painful, but if you're wearing a winter coat and your mittens, you've got this. Let's not talk about the cold. Let's talk about this big, beautiful peninsula with clean water and safe places and a real need for people like you.

For a long time, students in the Upper Peninsula have struggled to believe there are any opportunities for them here. We all want to make money and live decently, and it looks like that's easier in a city. So for decades, almost every ambitious person who graduated from high

That includes me. I headed to college, then made a short stop in Escanaba before bailing for Kansas City. Within a week there, I had two jobs. I could see no end in sight for my promising career. And that was true - I could have done anything in Kansas City. I worked hard and I did well.

It's also true, though, that there were a lot of Carols in Kansas City. There were a lot of hard-working young women who were excellent at their jobs. I blended in. When I left Kansas City, I was quickly replaced.

The difference is this: If you bring your skills back home, you will not blend in. In the Upper Peninsula, with its aging population and endless opportunities, you will be a rock star. A. Rock. Star.

Carol Stiffler

Did you master technology skills? Health care? Manufacturing? Accounting? Business management? Online marketing?

Who else here can do what you can do? You might be able to come home and pioneer a new business that will fill a gap. Or you could step into an existing business whose owner wants to retire - that's what happened for me. The Newberry News literally would have stopped existing. This has already happened in other local businesses. They've simply shut down because it was time for retirement and there was no one to step in.

It is completely inaccurate to believe there are no opportunities here. Find your job or make your job. Whatever it is, you can do it here.

Even more, if you come home, you will be in the place you are from. Once you leave, you will know how good that feels. Home is home. The world is exciting, too, but home is what made you. Something in you will always notice how you feel here.

It will take courage. You have to trust this place where you are from and know that we will be so glad to have you back.

So go. Get an education, or learn a skill. Do something big. Live big. And then please come back home, where we will be in awe of what you can bring to the table.

Letters to the editor

There are no letters to the editor. Please enjoy this letter from author E.B. White, dated March 30, 1973, written to a woman concerned about the future.

Dear Mr. Nadeau,

As long as there is one upright man, as long as there is one compassionate woman, the contagion may spread and the scene is not desolate. Hope is the thing that is left to us, in a bad time. I shall get up Sunday morning and wind the clock, as a contribution to order and steadfastness.

Sailors have an expression about the weather: they say, the weather is a great bluffer. I guess the same is true of our human society—things can look dark, then a break shows in the clouds, and all is changed, sometimes rather suddenly. It is quite obvious that the human race has made a queer mess of life on this planet. But as a people we probably harbor seeds of goodness that have lain for a long time waiting to sprout when the conditions are right. Man's curiosity, his relentlessness, his inventiveness, his ingenuity have led him into deep trouble. We can only hope that these same traits will enable him to claw his way out.

Hang on to your hat. Hang on to your hope. And wind the clock, for tomorrow is another day.

Sincerely,
E. B. White

A student's voice

A wish list for the next principal

By Claire Mohar

After six years as principal of Tahquamenon Area Schools, late last year Clifford Fossitt announced his resignation and has taken a position at Westwood High School in Ishpeming. Although students regret to see him go, they have high expectations for his replacement.

"I hope the new principal can connect better with us," one student expressed.

But Mr. Fossitt did care about his students. As a student commented, "He wasn't as strict about the little things. One time I was supposed to get suspended, but he said I could just go home for the rest of the day and do better tomorrow."

However, Fossitt's sometimes extreme disciplinary measures, like locking all the high school boy's bathrooms to deter vaping, weren't popular. As one student said,

Claire Mohar

"I agree with the rules, but they could be carried out a lot better, ya know?" How the dress code was unequally enforced was also a sore spot for many students.

Some hope the next principal will be a woman, so the reprimands will be more equally doled out. But the biggest hope students have for the new principal is that he or she will be more direct in addressing bullying.

"I was being called sexist slangs," one student recalled. "When I told Mr. Fossitt, he asked what I did to provoke them. He gave them a talk, but they never really stopped."

Although Newberry students respect the work Mr. Fossitt did for us, they look forward to a refreshed take on discipline in the educational system.

Claire Mohar is in 10th grade at Newberry High School.

George Spear, the young son of J.W. Spear of Marquette, had a quarrel with his parents Monday and took it into his head that a change of climate would be beneficial to his health. With this idea he boarded the eastbound train that afternoon and got as far as Newberry when he was intercepted by Undersheriff Fuller, who had been notified by telegram of the young gentleman's escapade, and succeeded in getting him to stop over and return to his parents with the Duluth Express the same evening. The asylum not being quite ready for occupancy, the officials were pleased to get rid of the young fellow on such easy conditions and in future it is hoped George will not find it necessary to repeat his foolish experiment.

Luce County Pine

Pine lands in this county changed hands to a large extent last year. The following from the Soo News gives the statement of the amount sold by a Soo gentleman.

The tracts mentioned comprises about all the pine left uncut in this county. D.J. Ranson, of this city, is one of the most prominent and successful dealers in pine lands in the state of Michigan. During 1894 deals were closed and through him involving values to the amount of over $500,000. Among the principal tracts was the sale of 100,000,000. Feet of pine in Luce County, owned by Abijah Weston to Danaher and Melendy, of Ludington. This transfer occurred in February last. The consideration was 310,000. It is reported that the present owners now ask over $600,000 for this group of timber. Another large sale was made late in the year. It was of 30,000,000 feet of pine on the Two Hearted River, which was sold to John Torrent for $100,000. This timber will be towed to the Soo for sawing. Mr. Ranson made a sale of Luce County pine to Hale and Booth of Ontario for $20,000. Millen Barber and Starr of Toledo, bought pine in Luce County of Mr. Ranson, to the amount of $30,000.

From January 16, 1920 Close the county to deer hunters

You may grease up the trusty old rifle and lay it away, at least as far as hunting of deer in Luce County is concerned for some time to come. Petitions asking the board of supervisors to take action in closing the deer season are being circulated in the county and will be submitted to the board at its regular meeting. These petitions have been instigated by hunters who believe that some means should be taken to protect the deer in order that they may not become practically exterminated in the next few years.

Those interested in seeing a closed season declare that fully 10,000 deer were killed in Upper Peninsula counties last year and at this rate it is claimed that the hunting would be pretty slim in a few years. They also declare that lower Michigan hunters come to this section in large numbers because of the fact that all counties in the lower peninsula are closed to deer hunting.

It is probable that the entire fifteen counties will petition the public domain commission for a closed season. Already a number of counties have taken action, and it is reported that Chippewa, Mackinac and Schoolcraft are considering the matter of closed season. The eastern end of the peninsula will thus be closed solidly against the invasion of hunters next fall.

The season can be closed only by action of the Public Domain Commission. Public opinion so far as is can be gauged, is solidly in favor of stopping the big slaughter of deer each season.

From January 15, 1970 N.H.S. Debaters Bring Home 17 wins

The N.H.S. debaters turned in an outstanding performance in the First Preliminary Tournament held at N.M.U. on Saturday, January 10, by winning 17 of their 24 debates, 2 of their losses being ties. (In case of a tie, the decision goes to the negative team.) The varsity team of Barbara Foster, Anne Foley, Ken Foster, and Jeff Sainio, won 5 of their 6 debates. The negative team of Barbara and Anne have yet to be defeated. One junior varsity unit also won 5 of their 6 debates, their single loss being a tie.

The team members on that unit were: Gloria Quinn, Bonnie Kilburn, Marilyn Macki, Jim Adriansen, Gail Bergh, and Garth Chenard. Two other junior varsity units participated in the tournament. One unit consisting of Joette Martinchek, Kim Erickson, Rhonda Fossitt, and Clarence Saunders won 4 of their 6 debates. The hunt is on for a new principal

By Carol Stiffler

There are seven fresh resumes on Stacy Price's desk. Price, the superintendent of Tahquamenon Area Schools, listed a job posting for a new principal after the departure of former high school Principal Cliff Fossitt.

Price solicited applications for either an elementary or high school principal to increase the odds of finding a qualified, interested candidate. Finding a principal is hard enough; finding one who is willing to move to a remote location to serve a rural school district is even harder.

Price currently serves as elementary school principal, in addition to superintendent, but is willing to transition to the high school position if the best available candidate is more geared to the elementary setting.

She's excited about the applications she's received and plans to conduct interviews this week and next. Price hopes to have a new principal in office by the end of February.

Northstar News

The 28th annual Yooper Youth Rally saw young people from the Soo, Rogers City, Petoskey, Charlevoix, Traverse City, South Boardman, Gaylord and Boon all at Northstar Baptist Church last Saturday. Pastor Dennis Higgins and his wife Heather from Philadelphia, PA challenged the youth to take the high road in life. Kim Handrich wrote the theme song for the day and the Northstar teens sang it to begin and end the rally.

Pastor Higgins spoke at all three services on Sunday. Mrs. Higgins taught the teen girls Sunday School class as well.

The Superior Conference Bible quizzing was as tough as always on Friday the 10th. Northstar went into the contest tied with Petoskey for first place at 15 - 3.

They faced each other in Northstar's first round. The battle was between the top two scorers in the Varsity competition: (#1) Logan Handrich from Northstar and (#2) Joshua Teller from Petoskey. Logan quizzed out on the 14th question with the score tied. 140 - 140. Josh quizzed out on the next question with five questions still left in the match. Petoskey answered three of them helping push them to a 6 - 0 day. It was Northstar's only loss of the day but a key one. Petoskey is now 21 - 3 while Northstar is 20 - 4 with one quiz remaining on Feb. 7.

Northstar won its last two varsity rounds easily with quiz-outs from Logan in the second round and from Hannah Handrich in the last round. Teller, from Petoskey, had three quiz-outs for a near perfect day with 350 points.

Logan remains at the top with 1,200 total points to Joshua's 1,080. Hannah is in 5th with 650 (210 on Friday), and Brandon Williams moved up two places to 8th with 350. (He had 90 points Friday).

In the Jr. Varsity competition Northstar had its first perfect 6 - 0 day of the year. They were led again by Logan Handrich. He quizzed out in all three rounds with only one error counting against him for 350 points. Jacob Neill added to the one-two punch with a quiz-out of his own and 290 points; a career high for him.

Also scoring for Northstar's JV were Faith Martindale, 40; Serenity Goldsborough, 20; and Megan Williams, 20.

Northstar leads the conference with a 21 - 3 record. Manistique (11 - 13) moved past the Soo (10 - 14) and Petoskey is 6 - 18.

This is the last week to order pasties for the winter fund raiser. Contact any student or call the academy at 293-3899. The pasties will be made Saturday, 18th in Engadine at the Twp. Hall.

Happy birthday this week to Dominic Handrich on Sunday, Emily Nelson on 16th, Megan Williams on Tuesday and Zachary Watt in New Zealand on Friday the 17th.

Three Lakes Academy Column

Greetings, Families!

The first full week after break has been a great success. Students and staff are busy getting back into the swing of things, and basketball season started on Monday. We have two teams, and I'm excited to watch them grow this season. If you are interested in volunteering at practices, please call the office at 586-6631. Be on the lookout for additional after school clubs to come this winter/spring.

We have been reteaching Bobcat Behavior this week and talking about ways that we can be Responsible, On task, Achieving, and Respectful. All staff be looking for students ROARING with good behavior in the coming weeks and giving Bobcat Cards to purchase tickets to upcoming events or prizes at the school store.

Illness has hit us pretty hard this week. Please remember if your child is sick that he or she needs to be fever free for 24 hours before returning to school. This helps prevent the spread of illness and shortens the length of recovery.

So far we've only used two snow days this year, but keep in mind if we go over 6, the makeup days will be February 14th and 17th and May 1st.

Maple trees suffer: Syrup will be affected for years

By John Blanchard

Recent wet, heavy snowstorms wrought havoc on those who live in the eastern Upper Peninsula. Our yards are littered with fallen tree limbs and side roads are covered in treacherous ice. The comforting thing is that for most of us, it is over – just another act of nature. However, there are some for whom the effects will last years.

The eastern Upper Peninsula is home to an excellent maple syrup industry. The storms have hit these people very hard. There are hundreds of small syrup producers in our area, and a few large ones. One of the largest is producers in our area is the RMG Sugar Bush in Rudyard, which is owned by the Ross family. Their state-of-the-art operation harvests and sells organic maple syrup gathered from 12,500 taps.

John Blanchard

Maple trees lay across sap collection lines in the RMG sugar bush.

Being a small producer myself, with the emphasis on small, I went to visit Mike and Derek Ross to find out what impact the storm had on their maple trees. When I reached their property, the damage I saw was shocking. Limbs are down as if ripped from the trees. Some smaller trees 20 to 30 feet tall were bent all the way to the ground. The tops of a few large trees lay on the ground. Others are split in half as if Paul Bunyan swung his mighty axe.

I met Derek Ross at their “sugar shack”, which is a modern, sprawling complex of warehouse, display area, retail space, and maple processing facility. He showed me his maple woods – which he calls a sugar bush. He and his crew are working feverishly to get the bush ready for this year’s run, he said.

They have six miles of roads running through the woods to open by clearing limbs and trees that have fallen across them. Many miles of sap lines stretch from tree to tree to carry sap to the collection points. In the wake of the storm, many of those lines have fallen limbs and broken trees on them now. There is a lot of work to get done before the sap begins running in a few weeks.

Mike said the damage will only dent this year’s maple syrup production, by about 8-10%.

The sugar is already in the roots of the trees for this harvest, he said. The real damage will be felt over the next 5-10 years. Every maple leaf is a little sugar factory, and the sugar is stored in the roots over the winter. Every leaf lost to fallen limbs and downed trees is no longer available to produce sugars in coming years. It will take years to heal.

The Rosses hope to have their woods cleaned up in time for their annual open house, which will be held on February 7 and 8. Many local producers attend the open house each year to stock up on supplies. The general public is also welcome. RMG is located at 11866 W. Thompson Rd. in Rudyard.

Sweet – Cupcake Wars are back

The second annual Cupcake Wars competition will take place Saturday, February 8. Hosted by the Newberry Area Ministerial Association, the event will take place in the St. Gregory Catholic Church classrooms from 11:00 a.m. to 2:00 p.m. All proceeds go to the Luce County Heating Fund.

Anyone interested in baking in the competition must be registered by February 1. For a full list of rules or information on registering, call pastor Kyle Kuehl at (906) 293-9340.

Spectators are welcome to attend the event, and probably should! With a minimal entry fee (children enter free), members of the public may sample the cupcakes and enjoy light drinks. Spectators can then purchase tickets to vote for their favorite cupcakes. Bakers cannot vote.

Prizes will be awarded at 2:30 p.m. for first, second, and third place, and people’s choice.

Bakers must prepare at least four dozen identical, standard size cupcakes (six dozen is preferred). Extra cupcakes will be available for sale individually, by the half dozen, or by the dozen.

Newberry is the new Hockeytown

By Dan Hardenbrook

Dan Hardenbrook

Back in the late 90s and early 2000s, when the Detroit Red Wings were ruling the NHL, the Motor City was the hockey capital of the world. Dominating the league and creating a dynasty, Detroit was dubbed "Hockeytown". But now, with the Red Wings rebuilding and Joe Louis Arena crumbling, the times of Hockeytown are a distant memory in Detroit.

But have no fear fans, because we've got all of the makings of our own little hockeytown here in Newberry.

In the past five years, we've won three state championships, taken a State Runner-Up, and had another appearance in the State Tournament. Three different age groups (10U, 12U, 14U) have won U.P. Titles. And that's just the boys. The ladies have ruled the ice, too.

Newberry natives Sara Cameron, Katie Rahilly, and Kaylen Clark have claimed championships as well. Sara won with an MBank girls team out of Marquette, Rahilly ruled with a team out of Petoskey that also played in Nationals, and Clark has won two titles with the boys both in Squirts and Pee-Wees.

The pride and prestige goes back way before that. Great teams were built in the Barn in the early 90s. One of the greatest groups of athletes came through the ranks in the early 2000s. And who can forget the emotionally charged 2008 Timberwolves, a team that overcame the loss of a close teammate and friend and fought their way all the way to states. Newberry has dominated for three decades, and they're still going strong.

As many as five teams with local ties could make a big impact in postseason playoff tournaments. Two teams have already qualified for the District 8 Tournament which includes most of the U.P. with the exception of the Soo and St. Ignace. The Renze Powersports Squirts (10U) knocked off Negaunee in the Regional round this past weekend.

The 12U Pee Wees, including Levi Maki, Landon Hollingshead, Gaijye Lee, and Cahlen Bolde, and a group of former champions from Munising are looking to get back to the top of the mountain. The "Lady Killers" are hoping to head back to the bigtime, too.

The defending State Champion French Trucking team, playing at the 14U Bantam level, has been on a roll right from the start.

The team is made of second-year players returning from last year's title winning team, and first-year Bantams that moved up from the Pee Wee level.

The addition of a group of young men from Manistique has rounded out the roster. They are currently 12-0 in CUP League play, outscoring opponents 83-17. Their only loss of the season came in the finals of the Marquette Holiday Tournament, when they lost 2-0 to Copper Country.

The top five goal scorers are from four different towns. Matthew Rahilly has 19 goals in 12 league games, and 6 assists. Munising's Carter Miller and Blake Walther have combined for 17 goals and 10 assists. Manistique's Carsyn Hinkson has 8 goals, tied for third on the team. Cameron Skeans, another Newberry player, has been on fire of late and has 9 goals and 5 assists.

This is the closest thing to a hockey all star team we have seen. They have already qualified for districts, which the team will host in Munising.

The State Savings Bank 16U squad is another Newberry/Munising/Manistique mash-up that makes magic on the ice. Coached by John Nutkins, this group has rolled in with the older group of Bantams from last year's team. The group includes Johnny Nutkins, Ethan Salter, Jacob Brown, and Josh Magnusson, and was boosted by the return of Gavin Nutkins, who played for the Soo Lakers last season.

The team has also stepped up playing A level and 18U teams to get them ready for the State Tournament, which they already got into as the host team. Their home ice could be the scene of another State Title.

Then there's Katie Rahilly and the K-Stars. Nationally ranked, they are wreaking havoc everywhere from Chicago to the Soo. You can catch their games on Facebook. Trust me, it's well worth it.

We have top-notch talent and incredible coaching. All of the pieces are in place for a fun few months. This is Newberry. The new "Hockeytown USA"!

TAYHA Squirts qualify for UP Tourney

By Dan Hardenbrook

The regional round of the youth hockey season rolled into Munising this past weekend for the 10U "Squirts" division. The local TAYHA team, sponsored by Renze Powersports, went over Friday afternoon needing only one win to qualify for the upcoming U.P. district tournament. The opponent in Friday's matinee was the Negaunee Iron Range squad, and both teams came out aggressive. Once Renze got rolling though, there was no stopping them from their goal of getting to Districts.

The Newberry youngsters started strong with three first period goals to break things open early. Their speed advantage was on full display as they were able to skate deep into the offensive zone and keep the pressure on.

A strong effort on the defense end kept Negaunee on their heels and just hoping for a break. Kade Schroeder had another multiple goal game, including the final one of the contest in the final few seconds of the second period to make it a 4-0 final score.

Oren Dewitt added a pair of assists to help on offense. Oliver Sevarns, Logan McIntyre, Gavin Makim, and Luke Luebker all pushed the puck, and the pace, for Renze.

Jarrett Zellar, Becca Rahilly, Levi Vrugink, and Finn Price were all in the right places at the right time for a defense that did not allow a goal.

Logan Lusk was the man of the match between the pipes, pitching a shutout that sends the Renze Powersports Squirts to the UP District Tournament.

"That was an awesome game. Our kids played really well. It's nice to not have to come back for the weekend. We got the job done and now we can work on getting better for Districts," said Coach George Sevarns.

The 10U Districts will be held the weekend of Feb 7-9 in Escanaba, with the winning team there qualifying for the state tournament in Trenton March 6-8.

Commander's Corner

My last article was about the valuable information and help we can receive by visiting our Luce County Veterans Service Office. Today I would like to highlight another helpful veterans benefit: is the Michigan Veterans Trust Fund. Its purpose is to temporarily help veterans with unforeseen emergencies.

We have a local-based committee who evaluates the applications submitted, which are then referred to the department directors. Our local trust fund committee is comprised of three members: Dale Hardy who is the committee chairman, Marvin Ketola, and me. You can pick up an application at our Veterans Service Office or call any of our committee members for more information.

Dale Hardy – 293-5767
Marvin Ketola – (906) 762-4068
Jim Dzelak – 293-8072

I would also like to take this opportunity to recognize a group of very talented quilting ladies. They are known as the Luce/West Mackinac Comfort Quilters. They meet every Monday at our Legion Post and are busy sewing and enjoying each other's company. These ladies work hard and donate their time, materials and skills to brighten people's days – not only our veterans, but people of our community, family and friends. Over the last six years they have made and delivered 41 Veteran Honor Quilts. These are for sick or elderly veterans. They have also donated 26 comfort lap quilts to the HNJH Infusion Unit, 44 quilts to local nursing homes, and six private cases. Along with all this quilting, these ladies volunteered their time to sew all of the bells for Christmas decorations you see on Newberry Avenue. They sew uniform patches on our Color Guard and Honor Guard shirts and jackets. They have also made comfort teddy bears from clothing of deceased family members. These are wonderful ladies who enjoy what they do and are proud to serve our veterans, community, family and friends.

Members of this group are Bonnie W., Linda T., Shawn St.G., Donna S., Shelby T., Kathy D., Marilyn J., Eunice K., and Karen W. Other members who have passed on were Avis Fretz, Dorothy Cox and JoAnne Martin. Thank you, ladies, for all your hard work.

In closing, I stress to all veterans to take advantage of the benefits available and to come down and visit our post. If you would like to keep up with our post, you can visit our Facebook page: American Legion Post #74.

Hill re-elected as chair of Mackinac County Board

Curtis resident Jim Hill has been re-elected as chair of the Mackinac County Board of Commissioners. This becomes his seventh year serving in that capacity. Hill's district is the western part of the county which includes Portage, Newton and Garfield townships. "It is an honor to be re-elected Chair of the Board, and I will continue to do my best to promote the interests of all Mackinac county residents," Hill said.

Cover to Cover

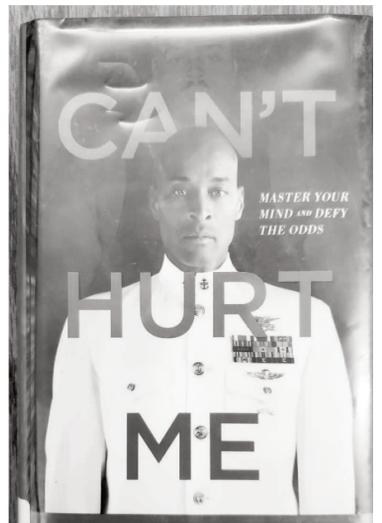

by Dion Mindykowski,

When The Newberry News Editor, Carol Stiffler, asked me if I could provide a weekly write-up about books that are available at the Tahquamenon Area Library, I didn't hesitate to say yes. After all, one of the best parts of my job is getting books into the hands of excited readers.

Next came the difficult part, deciding which of our over 30,000 items to feature in the first column. I thought about the 31 books I read in 2019, which included a lot of good ones. In the end, however, I chose one that I finished at the end of 2018. It stood out so much, that over a year later, I am still thinking about it.

Can't Hurt Me: Master Your Mind and Defy the Odds by David Goggins is a first-hand account of what it takes to pass the selection process to become a Navy SEAL. That is a very exciting story in itself, but there is much more to it. Goggins details what he overcame to achieve SEAL status. He had a very difficult childhood, he struggled in school, and he weighed 300 pounds prior to entering SEAL training.

The book also explores his pursuit of ultra-endurance racing. These races were not just marathons, or even 50-milers. He completed the Hurt 100-miler, the Badwater 135-miler, and a 320-mile triathlon.

Goggins is definitely not one of those people who was handed everything. It was through the hard work detailed in Can't Hurt Me that he met his goals, and as a result this book is highly motivational. Some readers might relate to the struggles the Goggins went through in life; other readers will have their own difficulties put into perspective.

Even if you don't typically read military memoirs, or stories of adventure and endurance sports, it is likely you will get something out of his book.

Disclaimer - You've probably heard the phrase "swear like a sailor;" Goggins definitely lives up to it. There is some strong language present. Even if that makes you a little uncomfortable, it does not detract from the story told through the book and it is still worth the read.

Village of Newberry Snow Removal Zone Ordinance 29B:

Prohibits the placement of objects between the sidewalk and roadway, or within five feet of the roadway.

Go back, Jack:

Keep Village snow removal zones clear during winter

Snow removal efforts have begun in the Village of Newberry and will continue until spring. To limit damage to resident and village property, the village asks residents to keep in mind the Snow Removal Zone Ordinance.

The village adopted Section 3 of Ordinance 29B to prohibit placement of objects near plowed streets. This ordinance was adopted to prevent damage to objects placed in the snow removal zone and to limit the claims against the village for damages to objects placed in the zone. The ordinance was also adopted for the purpose of informing the residents of the village of the dangers involved in placing objects in the zone.

As a reminder, the snow removal zone is defined as the area between the improved portion of the street and the sidewalk; or the area between the improved portion of the street and a distance of five feet from the edge of the improved portion of the street if there is no sidewalk.

No object may be attached to the ground directly, or indirectly, in the snow removal zone. Any object placed, in part, beneath the surface of the ground shall be deemed per se attached. However, attachment by anchoring, securing, pedals, or any other method is also prohibited.

No object may be placed in the snow removal zone from December 1 through March 29.

Ready, Set, PrEP program provides free HIV-preventing medication to qualified patients

A new program will provide free pre-exposure prophylaxis (PrEP) medication to qualified patients across the country, the Michigan Department of Health and Human Services (MDHHS) announced today.

PrEP is a medication that can prevent HIV from establishing an infection in the body if there is an exposure. When used properly, PrEP reduces the risk of getting HIV from sex by about 99 percent. Among people who inject drugs, PrEP reduces the risk of getting HIV by at least 75 percent.

The Ready, Set, PrEP program was launched by the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services (HHS) program. It will increase access to PrEP by removing the cost barrier that many patients face.

"Expanded access to PrEP medication is a key component in bringing us one step closer to ending the HIV epidemic in our state and across the United States," said Dr. Joneigh Khaldun, chief medical executive and chief deputy for health for MDHHS. "People in Michigan who are at risk of contracting HIV will greatly benefit from this program."

In Michigan, more than 16,000 people are living with HIV, and it is estimated 30 percent of new infections come from individuals who do not know they have HIV. According to HHS, more than one million people in the U.S. could benefit from taking PrEP medication, but only a small fraction of those actually get a prescription for the medication due to cost and lack of information about the drug.

Major pharmacies including CVS Health, Walgreens and Rite Aid have recognized the importance of expanded access to PrEP and have donated their dispensing services for the Ready, Set, PrEP program. Qualified patients can obtain PrEP medication at thousands of pharmacies nationwide at no cost. In addition to providing the medication, these pharmacies are also providing patient counseling and promoting patient adherence to the medication regimen.

To find out if you qualify for the program, visit GetYourPrEP.com or call 855-447-8410.

Secretary of State offices close for Martin Luther King Jr. holiday

Customers encouraged to use online services at ExpressSOS.com

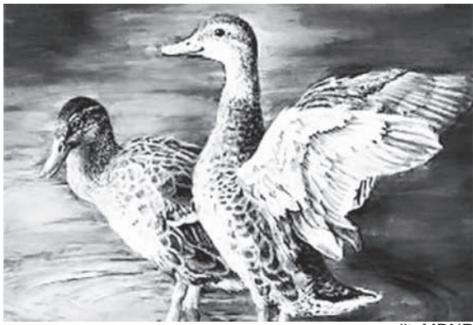

Secretary of State Jocelyn Benson reminds residents that all Secretary of State offices and the Office of the Great Seal will be closed Monday, January 20, in observance of Martin Luther King Jr. Day.

Most license plate types can be ordered or renewed online at ExpressSOS.com. Registrations for vehicles, motorcycles, snowmobiles or boats may be printed when renewing online, allowing motorists to drive legally until they get their plate and tab in the mail. Most driver's licenses and state ID cards also may be renewed online unless a trip to a branch office is required, as is the case to upgrade to a REAL ID license or state ID. Additionally, customers may order a duplicate registration or title, change their address and register to be an organ donor on the website.

The Department of State mails notices to motorists 45 days before their driver's license or license plates expire to give them ample time to renew. Licenses and plates that expire on a day when state offices are closed, such as a holiday or weekend, can be renewed the following business day without penalty.

License plate tabs also can be renewed at self-service stations, many of which are available around the clock. Visit the Branch Office Locator to find a Secretary of State kiosk near you.

With the exception of holidays, offices are open Monday, Tuesday, Thursday and Friday from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Smaller offices may close for the lunch hour. On Wednesdays, offices are open from 11 a.m. to 7 p.m.

2019 Michigan Junior Duck Stamp best of show winner showing two Michigan mallard hens.

K-12 students invited to enter 2020 Michigan Junior Duck Stamp Contest

Calling all young artists: The U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service is accepting entries for the 2020 Michigan Junior Duck Stamp Contest administered by the Shiawassee National Wildlife Refuge in Saginaw. Entries must be post-marked by March 15.

The USFWS has hosted the contest in Michigan since 1995 to boost education and awareness about North America's waterfowl and wetland resources. Sixteen-year-old Mandy He of Ann Arbor won in 2019 with her acrylic drawing of two Michigan mallard hens.

This year the program is expanding to accept all styles and types of two-dimensional visual artwork. All entries: — Will be judged in four groups, according to grade level: K-3, 4-6, 7-9 and 10-12.

— May feature one of the following species: whistling ducks, swans, geese, brants, dabbling ducks, diving ducks, sea ducks, mergansers, stiff tails or Hawaiian ducks.

In addition to first-, second- and third-place entries, judges will select a "best of show" winner that will be submitted to the Federal Duck Stamp Office and entered into the National Junior Duck Stamp Contest.

The first-place art from the national contest is used to create a National Junior Duck Stamp. The Junior Duck Stamp is available for $5 from the U.S. Postal Service and from many national wildlife refuges. Proceeds from stamp sales support conservation education and provide awards and scholarships for participating students, teachers and schools.

Educators are encouraged to incorporate the contest into their classrooms by utilizing the Junior Duck Stamp Program curriculum to teach students about waterfowl biology and the importance of wetland habitats. Those wanting to include even more lessons and activities can register for the DNR's Michigan's Wondrous Wetlands and Waterfowl middle school curriculum.

Complete entry information and rules can be found at FWS.gov/JuniorDuck.

Waters rising:

Great Lakes water levels higher than last year at this time

DETROIT- The U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, Detroit District, announces that water levels on each of the Great Lakes started 2020 higher than they started 2019, a year where many record high water levels were set across the lakes.

The U.S. Army Corps of Engineers urges those impacted by the high water levels of 2019 to prepare for similar levels again in 2020. The most recent six-month forecast of Great Lakes water levels shows water levels continuing to be well above average over this period. Unlike last year, lakes Michigan and Huron are forecasted to reach record high levels this year.

The Detroit District monitors and forecasts Great Lakes' water levels and provides the data and analysis on their Website www.lre.usace.army.mil.

Several natural factors contribute to the record lake levels. Persistent wet conditions across the Great Lakes basin continue to drive high water levels. Many cities across the basin set records in 2019 for the wettest period on record. The warmer than average temperatures in December led to greater runoff due to snow pack melting, especially on lakes Superior, Michigan and Huron, leading to more water supply. The warm air also caused less evaporation off the lakes' surface, which leads to more water in the system.

The water levels of each lake peaked during this past summer or fall and since then have been in a seasonal decline, however, significant erosion continues in many locations as water levels remain extremely high. Strong storm systems and resulting large waves have led to substantial erosion along much of the Great Lakes coastline. The Corps strongly urges individuals to use caution around Great Lakes structures and to be aware of safety hazards resulting from high water levels.

Many accidents and incidents near harbor structures occur during the turbulent weather seasons of fall and winter, but higher than normal water levels pose safety threats year round. The lakeshore attracts local residents and visitors alike. Strong winds, storms and high water levels can bring powerful impacts to the shoreline and harbor structures.

The Great Lakes are continuing to experience higher than normal water levels. High water levels create safety hazards, such as submerged breakwaters, dangerous rip currents and electric shock risks.

Submerged Structures

Use extreme vigilance while boating - many piers, docks and portions of breakwaters are currently under water and not visible above the water surface. Winds often affect local water levels, pushing them dramatically higher during storms and windy days. Structures that may be visible on a calm day may not be visible on a windy day.

Although breakwater structures were primarily built for navigation, they are also often used for recreation. Walking along breakwater structures can be hazardous - uneven slippery surfaces, especially when doubled with wave action, increase the risk of falling in to the water. Large armor stones may be hidden below the water surface and there is risk of getting wedged between armor stones or striking a stone with one's body, should an individual fall or jump into the water.

Rip Currents

Water circulation can differ with changes in water levels. When water levels, wind and waves increase, so does the risk of dangerous currents. Rip currents and structural currents are a common cause of drowning. Rip currents are fast-moving, narrow currents of water that flow away from shore. Structural currents can occur at fixed structures such as breakwaters and piers, and flow away from shore parallel to the structure. To get out of a rip current, it is advised to "Flip, Float, Follow" until the current subsides to save your energy and reduce your risk of drowning.

Electric Shock and Drowning

Electric shock drowning is an increased risk due to high water levels. Water-overtopped docks at marinas or public areas may have electrical hook-ups, which have the potential to shock someone that has come in contact with the water. When immobile due to shock, the risk of drowning increases.

Other water dangers Cold water, even in summer months, can be a significant safety threat. Water can quickly drop in temperature up to 30 degrees when upwelling takes place, which is caused when winds push warm surface water away from an area and cold water moves in. Being immersed in cold water (60°F degrees and colder) can cause cold water shock during the first minute of exposure. Cold water shock causes gasping and difficulty in breathing, followed by muscle failure, all of which can lead to drowning.

Select Upper Peninsula streams no longer have increased brook trout daily possession limit

An experimental regulation that allowed for 33 streams in the Upper Peninsula to have a 10-fish daily possession limit for brook trout is no longer in effect. During its regular meeting today in Lansing, the Michigan Natural Resources Commission voted to return the five-fish daily limit to those streams, effectively immediately. The regulation expired Oct. 1, 2019, and the commission then voted in November to extend it. Department of Natural Resources fisheries biologists had recommended against re-instituting the 10-brook trout daily possession limit on the select streams because of concerns based on biological and social science.

The newly approved regulation means all Type 1 streams, which are designated trout streams, in the Upper Peninsula are back to having a five-fish daily possession limit for brook trout. The streams with previously higher daily possession limit represented about 8% of the total mileage for Type 1 streams in the U.P.

The 2020 season on Type 1 trout streams will open April 25.
